

TrainingPartner Receives Strong Review from Brandon-Hall.com

Victoria, BC, Canada; March 21, 2009: In the 2009 LMS KnowledgeBase, TrainingPartner received a strong review from authors Bryan Chapman and the staff of Brandon Hall Research.

Some areas that received recognition by the researchers in the critique portion of the online profile included TrainingPartner's strong security features, the built-in Customer Relationship Management tool (for managing contacts with customers) and its double-entry accounting functionality (for managing training receivables and costs).

The analysts at Brandon Hall reported the following about TrainingPartner: "TrainingPartner is a full-featured learning management and talent management system at an attractive price point. It has particularly excellent functionality in areas such as customizability, informal learning, and support for external learners... A strong system with a lot of bang for the buck."

"TrainingPartner has consistently received good reviews from the analysts at Brandon Hall," noted Justin Hearn, President of GeoMetrix Data Systems Inc. "In addition, TrainingPartner was chosen for Brandon-Hall.com's Low Cost LMS Report for three years in a row."

Hearn continued, "Our goal with TrainingPartner has always been to provide a full-featured system at the lowest operating cost. We believe that we have accomplished that and are pleased that our industry recognizes that achievement. With the 2008 release, we added performance management and informal learning features. The 2009 release will offer even more functionality in the area of Talent Management. We just don't know of any other system that has the extensive range of functionality with a low operating cost."
